

Greetings from Tyler,

We've just put the finishing touches on what may have been the most difficult monthly letter in memory. Difficult from the standpoint that pointing out truth in the current environment is becoming a dangerous exercise. But that is precisely what we're commissioned to do, so here it comes.

Today we've had our sensibilities further rattled by news of the sinking of a South Korean ship feared to have been torpedoed by North Korea. Hopefully, it wasn't an act of war, but it comes at a time when North Korea is threatening "unpredictable military actions," alluding to the possibility of a nuclear strike against the South. We simply cannot imagine the aftermath if such a horrid event were to be visited upon the industrial powerhouse of Seoul, South Korea. And, at last count there were some 40,000 American soldiers guarding the DMZ between North and South. The ramifications would be vast, to the world economy, to relations throughout the Far East and particularly troublesome to our relationship with one of America's largest creditors, China.

It may be months, years, or never before the dust settles over what transpired earlier in the week. As everybody is aware, the U.S. Government has just granted itself hitherto unknown powers over a vast segment of the private economy. As we were told a week ago, they'd just have to pass it so we could find out what's in the new law regulating the dispensation of "health care." Well, day by day we are finding out, and (what a shock) it doesn't stop with government control of insurance companies, hospitals, doctors, and medicines. If you're brave enough to keep following this unfolding mystery, you'll learn of the creation of all manner of agencies, a "Regular Corps" and a "Reserve Corps," of over six thousand "officers" of (literally) untold duties and powers.

It is difficult to know how to digest and process all the news we're facing. But it is obvious on its face that much of it represents a radical departure from our heritage. Many, in fact a majority (according to polls) are in a state of near despair at the scope of what's just transpired. We must avoid that despair, remain strong in our faith and realize this is but one of many tests we may be called upon to face. And this is far from over.

Pray for our elected leaders, and particularly for the wisdom and fortitude of the Justices who will ultimately decide whether our divinely inspired Constitution allows for the imposition of such invasive measures. As stated in the upcoming letter, the American people may be mocked, but not God. The founders recognized that there is such a thing as natural law in force that carries its own consequences. More on that is in the letter to come.

We've arrived at that time of year when we all must take our own measure, realize our own sins and shortcomings and look to our Savior for redemption. Our faith will be tried as never before as current events play out, of that there is little doubt.

Several other subjects of prophetic importance are in play. An historic diplomatic crisis with Israel is roiling for no good reason. The U.S. is on a spending spree that transcends all logic. Recent polls suggest that a majority of Americans expect an economic collapse. Europe is unprepared to deal with the economic disaster emanating out of Greece and threatening the stability of the entire eurozone.

The Vatican is "reeling" as news of the pope's role in the priest abuse scandal comes to light. Only 39 percent of Catholics in Germany claim they "trust the pope." And that's just the tip of the iceberg.

Papal resignations are unknown in modern times. You have to go back nearly a thousand years to find an example of it. But pressures are mounting, as you'll find if you choose to wade through any of the wretched stories that have found their way into nearly all the world's media. I don't have to tell this audience how this might play out. We all know the applicable prophecies that relate to this subject, and it makes you wonder if a great many things are not coming together in ways that will be literally earth shaking.

We hadn't mentioned it before, waiting to see if we'd be offered airtime, but recently our program was approved for airing on the Fox Business Network. On short notice, we were offered a time that is only good, 11:00 pm on the West Coast. Of course that's 2:00 am in the east, and 1:00 am central. We've agreed to air four programs beginning this coming Monday night, and every Monday for the next four weeks. The price seemed right for a trial run, and we hope it will prove worthwhile.

The GTA telecast this week dealt with the mainstream belief in heaven and brought 501 requests with two hundred fifteen first time contacts. Have a good Sabbath, Passover and First Day of Unleavened Bread.

Remain fast in faith. All is not lost, by any means.
